

Connor Brown

ATTORNEY IN KANSAS CITY, MO

Connor joined Sandberg Phoenix in 2023. He is a passionate and driven civil litigator who brings experience advocating for clients in a variety of legal matters, from contract disputes to personal injury cases. Connor has an extensive knowledge of civil law and procedure, medical negligence and standards, and understands the full range of legal remedies available to litigants. He is a passionate advocate for his clients, working diligently to obtain the best possible outcome for each case.

Previously, Connor worked for one of the nation's top criminal appellate advocates, gaining invaluable insight into the appellate side of the law. As a result, Connor brings forward-thinking to every case he handles and is committed to providing his clients with the best representation possible.

Connor is a former professional cyclist and two-time collegiate national champion. A natural athlete, Connor found himself at the top of the cycling world early in his career, winning two national titles at age 18. After graduating from college, Connor decided to end his nine-year career to pursue the profession of law.

Outside of the office, Connor loves to explore the city's restaurant scene. He is an avid foodie who loves to try new dishes and discover new flavors. When he's not in the courtroom, he can be found trying out the latest restaurant openings or revisiting old favorites. He loves to share his experiences with friends and family, and is always looking for the next great spot to try.
