Fire & Arson Defense

Our firm represents a wide array of products involved in fire science litigation.

Our representation has given us a great deal of experience and perspective in investigating the origin and cause of fires and the complex scientific analysis that is required in order to determine the potential ignition sources and fire patterns which are critical to any defense. Whether working with insurance companies or business owners, we have investigated allegations involving consumer electronic devices, lawn and garden equipment, hand tools, motor vehicles, industrial equipment and electrical distribution systems (residential as well as high and medium voltage). Sandberg Phoenix's Fire and Arson team has defended companies in matters involving fires and explosions involving both propane and natural gas related incidents.

Our team has experience in training and educating clients on risk management policies and procedures.
