Sandberg Phoenix has announced a second Florida location in Tampa, Florida.

The office will offer comprehensive legal services, with specialties in business litigation, real estate litigation, commercial litigation, and construction services.

Shareholder Quinn Murphy, a Florida-licensed attorney, will be leading the Tampa office. He will ensure the office is fully staffed and operational, and lead day-to-day operations. Murphy specializes in construction and commercial litigation, representing contractors, subcontractors, and developers in litigation throughout the United States.

CEO and Managing Partner, Bhavik Patel stated, "We have been impressed with the growth in Florida. Our Tampa location will allow us to better serve the local area, make a bigger impact in the Tampa community, and expand our offerings in the state."

The firm currently has eight offices and over 180 attorneys.
