

INDUSTRIES

Accounting

The practice of defending attacks on accountants is diverse and brings corresponding challenges. Our attorneys are equipped with the knowledge to understand our clients' business needs and get the results they desire.

Our advantage is that our firm has a number of attorneys who are trained CPAs and hold advanced accounting degrees. In addition, our attorneys have decades of experience defending accountants and their firms from a variety of claims arising from tax, attestation and advisory services.