Sandberg Phoenix Launches the Bad Faith Blog – An Insurance Law Resource

NEWS & EVENTS: PRESS RELEASE

RELATED ATTORNEYS: JOHN SANDBERG, AARON FRENCH

The Bad Faith Blog by Sandberg Phoenix covers notable cases from around the country involving bad faith claims against insurers, whether they involve, or say they involve, bad faith, as long as the case involves damages in addition to those for breach of the insurance contract, sometimes referred to as extra-contractual damages. We also include cases reviewing extra-contractual statutory remedies that provide for damages.

Our main source of cases is from reported appellate decisions though, on occasion, we report on significant trial court decisions of significance. Click to follow the blog.

You may also email your thoughts to any of the authors.
